

PUMPING IONS: First there was the electric air bed pump. Then came the battery operated air bed pump. Now, from Aero Products, comes the battery operated air bed pump with a built-in flashlight, so you no longer have to set up camp or pump up your air mattress in the dark. Built into the front handle of the pump are three bright LED bulbs that turn on and off with the push of a button. The pump and lights are powered by eight C batteries (not included), or plug into your car cigarette lighter using the included adapter. The device comes with three pump adapters to inflate a variety of products. What's next — a built-in finger to press the button?

DETAILS: Air Light Air Flashlight Pump is about $35. Info at www.thinkaero.com; 888-462-4468.
